SUMMARY OF THE EVENT

'Phulkari can' aims to raise awareness about the importance of regular cervical screening for women (Pap smear tests). Women aged 18 to 69 are encouraged to schedule a Pap test every two years as part of the campaign. The goal of the campaign is to boost screening attendance, with an emphasis on women who do not test at all during the recommended two-year gap. They also informed us about HPV vaccines and the need to get vaccinated. Vaccination against HPV prevents new infections, but it does not treat existing infections or illnesses. This is why the HPV vaccine is most effective when administered prior to any HPV exposure.

Swachh Bharat Abhiyan

SUMMARY OF EVENT

Cleanliness is inextricably tied to the country's tourism and international interests. Increased tourism will result in increased revenue. It is critical for India to demonstrate excellent levels of hygiene and cleanliness in order to transform the global impression of our country. India has the second-largest population in the world. This mission is the government of India's largest social programme to improve hygiene standards. In many Indian cities, small towns, and rural areas, the initiative has aided in the cleanup of streets, roads, and infrastructure. High-level advocacy has aided in the reduction of open defecation and the promotion of the construction of household and community-owned toilets. As a result, the country's hygiene and sanitation standards have improved. Despite the fact that the situation has improved, much more has to be done in terms of sanitation and hygiene.
