

Seminar on Preventive Vigilance as a tool of Good Governance

Corruption is a major issue in India and is affecting economy adversely. A seminar was organized at Global Institutes, Amritsar in association with Punjab & Sind Bank on “Preventive Vigilance as a tool of Good Governance” on 29th Oct’2015 in which S. Balkar Singh Sohal, Senior Manager Vigilance, was the Chief Guest.

Mr. Balkar Singh Sohal in his address explained the theme of the seminar and compared with the medical term “Prevention is better than cure”. Corruption is spreading like cancer in our society and unless all of us work together it cannot be eradicated. He emphasized that the students should discuss this problem with their family members, friends and also suggest various measures of eradicating this disease.
